Spotlight: Pat Olson

Pat Olson is one of the core volunteers at Ken Baxter Community Center. Since 2004, she has been helping out at KBCC and at various City of Marysville special events each year. She also spends time volunteering at her church and the Salvation Army.

While Pat's help at the Center each week is amazing, it is her advocacy for the Center that is invaluable. She regularly tells people about KBCC and all the programs that are held here. What she considers the biggest benefit of the Center though is that it is a place where people can meet other people and build friendships.

Pat enjoys spending time with her family and friends. Volunteering has allowed her to not only help people, which she really enjoys, but also to make new friends. She has a group of friends from the Salvation Army that she meets with monthly to play board and card games.

While Pat describes herself as quiet and enjoying one-on-one conversations over large groups, she was also involved with a Drama Club for a number of years. The Club was one of the first programs Pat got involved with at KBCC. The group met on a regular basis at KBCC and then performed all over Marysville.
